By BOB CRAIG

Tuesday, Nov. 3, is general election day and Texas voters will be called upon to not only elect men to serve them from the high office of U. S. Senator down to their precinct Justice of the Peace, but will also decide the fate of seven amendments to our patchedup state constitution.

While it is common for many of the amendments to confuse a large number of voters each election, this year should set some kind of record. Usually the intent of the amendments is pretty well spelled out in the brief description given on the ballot but this year the descriptions leave a lot to be desired. In fact they could almost be termed misleading.

At first glance, Amendment No. 3 appears to give some tax relief to farmers and ranchers by assessing their land on a farming basis rather than a real estate development basis. But what the amendment does not say is that there is already in effect a constitutional amendment which provides tax relief for agricultural land owned by bona fide farmers and ranchers.

The difference between the amendment already passed and the new one is apparent when the two are studied. The one to be voted on now leaves out the existing words "natural person," an omission which would extend special tax treatment to corporation farmers. It also leaves out the existing reference to the primary occupation of the landowner thus opening the door to special treatment for 'tax farmers."

So it is possible that Amendment No. 3 would not help the bona fide farmer and rancher so much but would open the door to special tax treatment for farm land owned by the very corporate interests and land speculators whose land purchases drove up prices and caused the bona fide farmer to seek tax relief in the first place.

Another one that is somewhat misleading is Amendment No. 2, the liquor by the drink amendment. It is veiled in words asking the voter to choose for or against "repeal of the prohibition against open saloons found in Sec. 20, Article 16, of the Constitution of the State of Texas."

At first glance it would appear that a vote for this would open saloons all across the state but instead it would only empower the Legislature to enact a law regulating the sale of mixed alcoholic beverages on a local option election basis.

Maybe all of the voters know what the amendment means but it would seem that it would have been better if it had been worded a little more clearly.

Wonder how many voters will know what Amendment No. 1 means when it asks the voter to vote for or against "The constitutional amendment relating to the removal, retirement or censure of Justices, Judges and Justices of the Peace under prescribed circumstances."

How many will know that this amendment actually expands the authority of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission in several ways relating to disability payments, removal from office and censure.

We can only suggest that voters read up on these amendments before they go to the polls and not wait until they get there to figure out how to vote.

Quail, deer and turkey hunting will open in this area Nov. 14, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Quail season will run until Feb. 15, with the deer and turkey seasons ending Jan. 3.

The limit on quail in the Permian Basin District, which includes Jones, Stonewall and Fisher Counties, is 15. But in the Possum Kingdom District, which includes Shackelford and other counties east of us, the limit is 12. The possession limit is three times the daily bag limit.

IN COTTON BOWL—Members of the Hamlin High School "Marching Green" form the left leg of the letter "M" in Music 70 formed by nine Texas bands during the State Fair Music Festival in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Monday evening. In the foreground are 21 high school choruses from across the state that participated in the evening's entertainment that honored Bert Bacharach, who conducted the bands. The North Texas Lab Band is in the center front.

ON FAIR GROUNDS—The Hamlin High School band under the direction of Tim Jones performs in front of the Hall of State on the fairgrounds of the State Fair of Texas in Dallas. The performance was at 1 p. m. Monday. The band returned home Tuesday afternoon after the Monday evening performance in the Cotton Bowl and a day at the Fair Tuesday.

Latrese Williams Honored At State Fair Award Dinner

Latrese Williams, third vice president of the state association of the Future Homemakers; her mother, Mrs. Donley Williams; and her advisor, Mrs. Joe Wayne Carter; were guests of the State Fair of Texas in Dallas Oct. 16-17.

The group, Mr. Carter, and Latrese's brother, Jackie Don Williams, attended the State Fair of Texas Honor Award Dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel Friday evening. Dolph Briscoe Jr. of Uvalde was the principal speaker. Latrese and other state FHA officers, the State FFA officers and the 4-H club officers were each presented with an award by James W. Aston, treasurer of the State Fair Organization.

On Saturday, Rural Youth Day at the Fair, Latrese worked in the FHA Booth in the Agriculture Building then viewed exhibits and visited the Midway.

Also accompanying the group to the Dallas area were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams and Joe Bob Carter.

Continental Oil Co. Announces Work Started On Plant

HOUSTON, - Continental Oil Company has announced construction is underway on a new 20 million cubic feet per day compressor station and gas processing facility near Hamlin, Texas. Conoco formerly operated a gathering system and compressor station at this site.

The facility, to be operated by Conoco, will process gas from the Round Top field and will be jointly owned by Conoco, General Crude Oil Company and Texas Pacific Oil Com-

Upon completion in April, 1971, the plant will employ ten people.

Design and construction contract for the units has been awarded to the Oriloff Corportation of Midland, Texas. The cost of construction was not announced.

World War I. Survivors include his wife: one son, Jerry Frank of Hamlin, a niece, Mrs. Garland Preston of Lubbock: and two grandchildren, Jeri Ann and Suellen Waggoner.

Pallbearers were Jack Willingham, Clifford Reynolds Jr., E. A. Hewitt, Bill Feagan, Roy C. Brown, Ralph Riddle, Billie Joe Wilson and Dr. J. E. Harrison.

Stamford share second place by virtue of their 0-0 tie. Merkel and Hamlin are each 0-1 in conference play.

In other 7-AA action this week, Stamford will be playing at Merkel and Haskell will be at Anson.

Leading the Rotan offense here Friday will be Quarterback Walter Hargrove, 160 pounds, who is a good passer and a good runner. In the backfield with him will be Halfbacks Hank Day, 175 pounds; Steve Nowlin, 175 pounds; and Mickey Early. 175 pounds.

In the line the Yellowhammers will probably start Chico Garcia, 145 pounds, at split end; Norvelle Kennedy, 170 pounds, at tight end; Santos Flores, 180 pounds, and Charlie Alls, 190 pounds, at tackles; Randy Smith, 185 pounds, and Henry Soliz, 180 pounds, at guards; and Joe Sepeda, 160 pounds, at cen-

Most of these boys will likely start on defense for the Yellowhammers too.

Tonight (Thursday) the Hamlin Freshmen will host the Seymour Freshmen here with the kickoff set for 7.

Tuesday the Junior High Eighth grade team will travel to Stamford to meet the Stamford Eighth grade at 6. The Seventh grade will be idle.

Dinner Saturday

FROM THE FILES . . .

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO (October 23, 1925)

A Sacred Concert was presented by the Choir of the First Baptist Church, Sunday evening, October 18th, in the auditorium of the church to a large and appreciative audience. This special program was given under the direction of Mrs. L. B. Howard, Choir Director assisted by Mrs. W. C. Russell as pianist, and proved not only an evening of pleasure but truly one of spiritual worship. Every number was beautifully rendered and many expressions of appreciation were given to those who helped to make the program a success. Especially do we feel grateful to those who assisted that are members of other churches of the town. Hamlin has unusually good musical talent for a town of this size, all we need to do is utilize that which we have. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Russell with the help of the members of the choir will have an attractive musical program for each of the Sunday services.

The Hamlin High School paper "The Pied Piper" came to life again this week, with a line of new editors, managers, and reporters. They put out a six page issue and as usual it is brim full of school news. This is one of the most worthy features of activity that the students can follow. It means a peep into business dealings that will do them good in the future.

Some time ago the Herald announced that in order to meet the mails on each Friday morning it is necessary to have all copy for the paper in the office before night Wednesday. This applies to news matter as well as ads. If all wait till the last day, it is impossible to set the type in time to do the press work and address papers for the mails. The merchants have been very prompt about preparing their copy for ads early till the last few weeks. This is because of the rush of business. To prepare the pictures for illustrations we must have time before the press hour.

TWENTY YEARS AGO (October 20, 1950)

Recurrence of a siege of house pilferings is anticipated by Hamlin residents with the report that the home of Art Newcomb was entered Tuesday night by a night-time prow-

Newcomb heard the prowler in his bedroom and lay quietly until he was thoroughly awake before turning on the light.

The light was of a flourescent type and flickered before becoming brilliant enough to see clearly and the thief never arose from a crouching position at the foot of Newcomb's bed. He fled in the same crouch before he could be grabbed by the astonished householder.

It is understood that Newcomb got a profile view of the man as he fled which would permit him to identify the intruder.

Citizens are apprehensive that this visit may be the forerunner of another series of thefts similar to those of a month past.

The Sylvester Co-op Gin was almost totally destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. Fire broke out at about four o'clock near a cotton press in the gin.

The gin was valued at between $50,000 and $60,000 and was only partially covered by insurance. Only a portion of a seed house was saved in the conflagration.

Firemen were summoned from Hamlin, Rotan and Snyder and the Hamlin equipment remained at the blaze until seven o'clock.

The yard of the gin was full of cotton-filled trucks when the fire was discovered, but they were removed from the premises before flames reached them.

TEN YEARS AGO (October 20, 1960)

The worst hail storm this area has ever seen hit here Saturday evening about 5:30 p.m. covering an area about six or seven miles wide and 15 miles long.

Crop damage estimates run as high as a million dollars and insured damage to homes and businesses in Hamlin is estimated to run from $250,000 to $300,000.

Saturday's storm followed on the heels of a hail storm Thursday in the Neinda community south of Hamlin that destroyed 500 to 600 bales of Cotton damage is estimated to run from twenty-five to 100 per cent to 10,000 to 15,000 acres of cotton in Neinda, Hamlin, Tuxedo and Fairview. The Fairview area was hit the

Some damage to grade in all cotton not harvested was reported.

Rain over the past few days have stopped work on the city's paving program that was already running behind schedule. Work is expected to resume as soon as possible.

The contractor has done only preliminary work on the streets and most of this will probably have to be done over since the rains. Work on curbs and gutters is expected to start when the weather clears.

The First Methodist Church here has adopted plans for a $200,000 building program which will include the building of a new sanctuary, new educational building and moving and remodeling the present parsonage. Financing for the program will be spread over the next four years, according to Rev. Edmund W. Robb, pastor.

Neinda Philosopher Takes Both Sides On A New Law Making Parents Liable for Kids' Deeds

I remember reading it in a newspaper, I forget which newspaper and which town it was, but some city government, tired of willful mischief serious destruction by kids and students, if there's any difference, has passed an ordinance making parents responsible for their children's actions, even to the point of fining them and sending them to jail.

"Maybe this will put a stop to it," officials said, tired of the whole matter.

Newberrys Hold Reunion At Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam

Hamlin twins, Van and Dan Newberry visited with each other for the first time since October, 1968 in Cam Ranh Bay, South Vietnam from Sept. 27 to Oct. 6. Army Capt. Dan Newberry is stationed at Cam Ranh Bay where he is executive officer of 32nd Medical Depot which handles medical supplies for American forces in Vietnam.

First Lt. Van Newberry was on his way to a new assignment at Chu Lai, South Vietnam, where he is security officer for a signal battalion. Van will be in Vietnam until mid December and then will be stationed at Fort Carson, Van has received 17 medals while in Vietnam, 12 American five Vietnamese.

His most recent medals were awareded Sept. 21 at Awards Day at Di An. He receied the Army Commendation Medal for heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force on July 5 while serving as the platoon leader for the mortar platoon of Company E., 2nd Battalion, 60th Infantry, 3rd Brigade 9th Infantry Division, in the Republic of Vietnam.

On this date, during operations at Fire Support Base Jamie, charges of a mortar round were accidently ignited, causing the immediate area, in which there were approximately 800 pounds of high explosives to catch fire. Rea-

AT AWARDS DAY--Army First Lt. Van A. Newberry, left, receives the Army Commendation Medal during Awards Day Sept. 21 at Di An, Republic of Vietnam. He also received the Bronze Star with "V" Device for heroism. He has received a total of 17 medals since mid-December last year.

He was also awarded the

for heroism in ground combat

on April 12. On this date during an airmobile operation as his platoon was conducting a sweep through a woodline, it came in contact with an enemy force entrenched in fortified and well-camouflaged bunkers. Lt. Newberry immediately began to maneuver his elements into the woodline. When gunships were called

Lt. Newberry braved intense hostile small arms fire to take up an exposed position to direct gunship strikes against the enemy positions.

Lt. Newberry spotted an enemy soldier laying in ambush for one of the friendly elements maneuvering into the woodline. He crossed sixty meters of open terrain under heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire and felled the enemy with a burst

RECEIVE AWARDS--Three Hamlin citizens were awarded Outstanding Citizen Awards by the Law Enforcement Officers Assn. of Texas for their part in rendering assistance to Hamlin Chief of Police Bryan Wasson. Chief Wasson, president of LEOAT, presented the awards to Bob McKissack, Bill Feagan and Delton Jackson for their help here in January when a woman was about to kill her husband with a . 12 gauge automatic shotgun.

Letters to the Editor--

Few people in this world

In these days when we hear so much said about the good for nothing selfish teenagers, I want to relate an experience that concerns one dependable teenage boy in our town.

I was given this boy's telephone number to call to see if he could mow my lawn. He had been mowing other lawns but I did not know him and he did not know me.

I called and asked to speak to the young man that did mowing and a very nice polite voice said "You are speaking to him, but I am sorry I have a steady job and don't have time. But, I will get someone to mow for you."

Now, does that sound like a selfish teenager that doesn't

I think too many people make a big mistake when they lump teenagers in a group with the ones that have gone bad for I believe most of our young people are fine and good if we treat them like they were people. We should ask ourselves - would we like to be grouped as a mother with all the bad mothers? Or, fathers to be put in the same category with fathers that would leave his children not caring what happened to them or worse yet --- beat them to death?

Don't you think it's about time we did some real thinking and give the young people a few pats and less shoves.

Sincerely, Mrs. T. W. McGuire

Dear Sir:

Please run the following tribute to A Real Pioneer who was laid to rest - Elma Brewer.

He had a great fascination for horse flesh, and why shouldn't he, if you stop to think, he was on his own in the days when a horse was the only means of transportation. He knew every intricate part of that critter as well as the best mechanic knows his auto. Few people ever want to have anything to do with a spoiled horse, the further apart they can stay the better - but to this old cowboy it was a challenge and an ever present urge to match the minds of

His cowboy attire complete with tobacco was a regular sight till his final and fatal accident. He had a heart as big as they came. Always willing to lend a helping hand. realized the signifiance. When parents had gone to bed and contentedly rested at home, he attended their children night after night on the streets and gathering places of our town. Wonder how many he saved from ruin by his words of wisdom and law. How many nights you slept while he worried with seeing your children home. How many boys and girls he told to go on home instead of locking them up and no one else knew.

befitting his life, a beautiful and endurable casket.

If he could have seen his funeral he would have said poof to the flowers and lovely casket. But no man could deny such honor as the many flowers friends bestowed upon him.

This was what he really deserved as a man for luxury and beauty he cared not — but honesty, integrity and humbleness were his trademark.

Five fumbles lost in the first half and speedster Charles Franklin were more than the Pipers could handle Friday evening as they lost to Haskell, 48-0, on a rain slick field. Playing the whole game in a down pour that turned the field in a quagmire in the second half, the Pipers could never find their offense.

The first half was all Haskell and mostly Franklin as he scored four of their seven touchdowns on runs of 9, 44, 32, and 9. Quarterback Keith Everett scored two on runs of 8 and 18, and the Haskell defense scored the final one when they recovered a fumble in the Hamlin end zone.

With Franklin on the bench during the second half the game turned into a defensive standoff as neither team could fight their way out of the big mud hole created in the Indian playing field.

Haskell took the opening kickoff at the Hamlin 49 and Franklin scored nine plays later from the nine. Randy Stone kicked the point after.

Following a short Hamlin punt to the Indian 41, the Indians scored three plays later with Franklin carrying 44 yards for the score. Stone again kicked the point after.

Recovering a fumble on the Hamlin 18, the Indians hit pay dirt on an eight-yard carry by Everett. Stone's kick was
